

International Journal of Medical Laboratory Research

Peer Reviewed Open Access Journal

Introduction to the Inaugural Issue:

I am extremely pleased to write this inaugural editorial for the first issue of International Journal of Medical Laboratory Research. We would like to start by thanking you for embarking on this journey with us. We hope this will be the first in a long series, and our ambition is to showcase superior research articles and set the highest standards for research ingenuity and respectability. This journal invites article from medical laboratory field which include clinical chemistry, hematology, clinical immunology, clinical microbiology, the emerging field of molecular diagnostics, oncology, clinical research, pathology and other. This journal has been designed to provide a vehicle for both experienced authors and neophyte researchers to come together and exhibit their work. We are particularly pleased to have efficient editorial team, with them we can bring an exceptional record of outstanding research and editorial experience in the field medical research. I am extremely proud to be a part of this exciting new endeavor and am confident that it will become a highly respected and trusted resource of leading knowledge in Medical field. We trust that the information presented in this publication will serve to make further advances in medical laboratory research and eagerly look forward to seeing your research in our journals.

Sincerely,

The Editor-in-chief,
IJMLR